GO GREEN

NATURAL GUARD PRODUCTS

Quality new products from Ferti-lome

MAKE COMPOST FROM KITCHEN SCRAPS

Throw in your vegetable waste instead of putting it in the garbage.

ATTRACT BUTTERFLIES & BEES

Provide a pesticide free sanctuary for these pollinator pals, by growing a diverse variety of native flowers like wild lilac, goldenrod and lemon balm.

The word "green" has been synonymous with gardening, and the lawn and garden industry is in stride with the green movement, putting on the market many new products, fertilizers and chemicals that are more organic and natural than ever before. The new products use less material and are very target selection in what they do. It is important to identify the problem before choosing and applying the product. Many of these products are modestly priced, so "going green" is not only a smart way to garden; it may even be less expensive. That's a benefit for both you and the environment.

Look for our environmentally products on the shelves with other products of that particular type, like insect control. In addition, we have some special displays that feature brand name "go green" products. Brands like Natural Guard and Ferti-lome have lines of eco-smart products. If you don't see what you're looking for, just ask one of the helpful Green Thumb Gang behind the front counter.
